

17/02/99

The Right Honourable Tony Blair MP
House of Commons
London SW1A 0AA

Dear Mr Blair

You are wrong, wrong, wrong about GM foods. The "best scientific advice" is a phrase that no longer engenders confidence. Common sense will tell you that the evolutionary process is going to be rather better at resulting in safe and wholesome food than the activities of modern corporations. Common sense will also tell you that it is impossible for the scientific community to predict the effect GM crops and organisms are likely to have in the wider environment.

You improve nature at your, and our, cost